September is the best month to visit Dawson Springs, and if you want to stop at a quiet, well-kept house, try the Dawson House. The furniture is new, the rooms neat and pleasant, and the tables loaded with everything that is good. The house is kept by Mr. R. B. Kendall, from Todd county.

In another column will be found the professional card of Messrs. Frogge & Hanbury, attorneys at law. The firm is composed of Prof. S. L. Frogge, late Superintendent of schools, and Judge J. T. Hanbury, judge of the Hopkinsville Police court. Both gentlemen are well and favorably known and possessed of a popularity that will bring to them a fair share of the law business in the courts. We commend them to the public and predict for them a successful practice.

Messrs. Smith & Bragg, the popular Pembroke merchants, are just now in the midst of a great cut price sale of general merchandise. This 20 per cent. slaughter of prices commenced Saturday and will last fifteen days only. The people of Pembroke and vicinity will, on this occasion, have an opportunity of supplying themselves with reliable goods at prices lower than ever heard of before. These merchants have an immense stock and must have room for the heavier Fall and Winter goods.

At Bowling Green E. P. Graves has been sentenced to one year in the penitentiary in the circuit court. Some months ago he eloped with the wife of his cousin, and the guilty pair carried along some household goods belonging to the injured husband. They went to Ferguson station in Logan county, and began housekeeping as man and wife. The husband finally located them and had Graves arrested and indicted for stealing his wife and property. At his trial, as stated, he was found guilty and given a year in the pen. The guilty woman and her husband were in attendance at the trial. After it was over they kissed, made up and went home happy.

With the exception of the finishing work on the front, the brick work on J. H. Anderson's three-story building on the corner of Tenth and Main streets, is finished and the roof is being put on. Forbes & Bro. are under contract to finish the building by Oct. 1, when it will be occupied by the Racket store. The building is of red pressed brick and will be about 60 feet high and surmounted by a flag pole 15 feet high. Mr. Kugler had a flag made while he was in New York, which he brought back with him. It is 30 feet long and has "The Racket" inscribed upon it in letters several feet long. The interior of the building will be finished off in elegant style and the store room will be unsurpassed by any in the city for convenience and attractiveness.

The KENTUCKIAN's new building on Main street, which will be one of the handsomest newspaper buildings in Kentucky, will be ready for occupancy in about ten days. The front is completed by all to be the prettiest in the city. It is of mottled or granite pressed brick with pilasters of rough finished or stone-faced red pressed brick and stone trimmings. The windows above and below have circular transoms and the entire design is novel and unique. The ground floor will be used for the counting room, stationary and machinery room. The upper story will contain a suite of editorial rooms and the composing room in the rear, connected with the press room below by steps and elevator. The inside arrangement is a model of convenience and the furnishings will be highly ornamental.

Mr. Edmunds suffered the fracture of several ribs, his right collar bone and right arm were broken, his left hand was badly mangled and he was terribly bruised all over his body. While his injuries are extremely painful, he is not considered dangerous. Several of the passengers were killed outright, and many others were seriously injured. Mr. Edmunds was brought home Friday and has been resting as comfortably as could be expected under the circumstances. The accident happened about the same time of the wind storm here, which came near causing Selis Bros., circus tent to collapse.

Obituary.

John Rice Dulin, son of John M. and Mary E. Dulin, was born Oct. 23, 1870. When he was twenty one years of age he went to Belton, Tex., where he secured a position as account book-keeper in the First National Bank of that place. Mr. Miller, Pres. Bank of that place, the Christian Church May 1892, under the preaching of Eld. Hammon. He taught a Sunday School class and was regular in his attendance at church, and faithful to all her requirements. He was so successful in his business career that Jan. 1893 he secured the position of wholesale dry goods firm of Ray, Elliott & Co. In Jan. 1894 he had to give up his position on account of bad health. He went to California and North Carolina in search of health, but at last gave up the unequal contest and came home to die. He had the very best of care, and everything possible was done for his relief but it was of no avail. He breathed his last at 5 o'clock on the morning of Sept. 13, 1894.

His funeral service was conducted by the writer in the Christian Church at Crofton. He was buried at the family burying ground three miles in the country.

May God be merciful to the sorrowing family.

J. W. MITCHELL.

The defeat of Breckinridge will cause general rejoicing throughout all Kentucky. In this city Breckinridge had not a dozen sympathizers. On every hand expressions of delight are heard that he has been turned down. Not only the Ashland district but the whole state was interested in the defeat of this man. It is a pity that he could not have been turned under an avalanche of votes, but the plurality small as it is, is sufficient. The total vote shows that the majority against Breckinridge, though divided between two men, was nearly 4,000 and there is satisfaction in this, at least.
